HOW TO SCALD VEGETABLES FOR FREEZING

Is it better to use steam or boiling water for scalding vegetables before home freezing? Michigan State College foods specialists say that research shows it depends on the vegetable. Three green vegetables, peas, asparagus and broccoli, have been tested with both methods by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Frozen peas which had been scalded with boiling water held more of their fresh flavor and Vitamin C than those scalded with steam.

On the other hand, broccoli which had been steam-scalded was more palatable and had more nutritive value than water-scalded broccoli. The asparagus was as good scalded with steam as with boiling water.

Proper scalding is most important in preparing vegetables for freezing. Vegetables which are not properly scalded will lose flavor and color in storage.

Scalding vegetables for freezing is a delicate process. It must be enough to stop enzyme activity, but not enough to soften the vegetables and give them a cooked flavor. Steaming vegetables takes about 50 per cent longer than using boiling water.

For asparagus the time required is three minutes in boiling water, or five minutes in steam. Cool it quickly in running cold water or ice water, drain, pack and freeze as soon as possible, the M.S.C. specialists advise.

NON-FARMERS GOING "RURAL"

Rural residents who do not farm are more numerous than they were ten years ago.

Paul Miller, Michigan State College extension sociologist, says the Federal Census reports show this.

In 1940 there were about 100,000 people living on farms in Michigan whose chief source of income was not farming. But in 1950 this figure jumped by four times — about 400,000 Michigan people living on farms but not earning a majority of their income from agriculture.

THE Baffles By Mahoney

Silly accident, but expensive!

All accidents are silly—and unexpected.

The grocer boy does not plan to trip over a toy wagon in your driveway and break an arm.

But it can cost you thousands in a damage suit.

Or your dog may bite a stranger (or a friend). You may hit somebody with a golf ball. Your child may sock a passerby with a rock. A mailman may scot on the ice or on a roller skate.

A very inexpensive America Fore policy will cover you against damage suits from all these and other unplanned expensive accidents. For example, you can get $10,000 liability protection for only $10 a year.

TILERS PLAN BIG FIELD DAY

Final plans were drawn last Friday, June 5, for the first statewide trenching machine field day of its type in Michigan.

Six to eight big farm drainage tiling machines will be demonstrated Wednesday, July 8, at the event, in Saginaw county. The Michigan Farm Trenchers association plans the field day at the Clarence Feehan farm, two miles south and one mile east of Merrill.

Michigan State College's Cooperative Extension Service and the Saginaw County Soil Conservation District are joining the trenchers in sponsoring the program. Willard Cutler, M.S.C. drainage engineer, will be general chairman.

NET EARNINGS DROP

Net earnings of Michigan State College farm account operators declined about one-third from 1951 to 1952. Cash incomes were as high, but the value of livestock and "working capital" inventory on the farm "shrank" to make a drop in real income. Economists predict net earnings to drop further in 1953, reflecting further cost price squeezes.
